DEMOCRATIC IDEAS OF CIVIL SERVICE.

In a civil service reform aspect there is a great deal of "deep damnation in the taking off" of Edward C. Wall, as collector of internal revenue for the Milwaukee district. Mr. Wall, it is true, is a democrat. Before his appointment he was an active one, but never an offensive one, for he never sunk the gentleman or honorable citizen in the politician.—Madison Democrat.

Now will the Democrat please to inform the public whether, in its judgment, there is more damnation, from a civil service point of view, in the taking off of Mr. Wall than there was in the taking off of Capt. Bean, four years ago, in order to make a place for Mr. Wall, who had been a very active worker for Mr. Cleveland's election.—Sentinel.

The public will likely wait a long time before it will receive the information which the Sentinel requests the Democrat to impart. It is pretty difficult work for the democrats to give an intelligent reason why there is "deep damnation" in the removal of a democrat from office, and "reform" in the removing of a republican to give place to a partisan democrat. The democratic and mugwump creed is that a democratic president can remove an efficient republican without cause, and without being subjected to criticism; and that a republican president who removes a democratic partisan to make room for a republican, is prostituting his office and sinning against civil service. In the Milwaukee case, Cleveland removed a Union soldier to make room for a democratic worker, and the democrats said this was just the thing to do—it was business. Then Harrison removes the democratic worker and puts in his place a faithful and competent republican—a disabled Union soldier—the democrats call this the "deep damnation of the taking off" of the democrat!

Take another case. The democratic and the mugwump press have been particularly severe and persistent in their criticisms of President Harrison for removing Judge Sandford from the chief justiceship of Utah. They thought it was perfecting shocking to remove such a man as Judge Sandford, and deeply mourned because the republican president was bowing to the demands of his party in removing honest democrats from office.

What are the facts? There were many changes against Judge Sandford touching the manner in which his judicial duties were discharged. The attorney general of the United States requested Sandford to resign, which he declined to do, whereupon the removed him, and appointed in his place Judge Zane, whom Cleveland removed to make room for Sandford. Judge Zane was and able and upright judge. He used all the ability at his command to enforce the Edmund's law in Utah. This made him quite unpopular with the Mormons, especially with the polygamist, who made a strong effort to have him removed and a democratic judge appointed who would be in harmony with the democratic Mormons. Cleveland responded very promptly and willingly, and Judge Zane was removed.

The judicial administration of Judge Sandford was not in harmony with the spirit of the Edmunds law. He was quite gentle with the polygamists. He favored the Mormons as against the law, and common decency demanded his removal. The democrats and mugwumps look with horror on the removal of Sandford, but viewed with great satisfaction the removal of that fearless and upright judge—Zane.

THE LOSS OF CONSCIENCE.

Miss Kate Field stands foremost among the able and progressive women of this country. She has education, character, and conscience. She is a fine public speaker. Her courage and convictions make her a fearless leader. She can match anybody on the stump or meet the best in argument.

Miss Field is a hard worker for temperance, but unfortunately for the prohibitionists she is on the side of high license and greater restriction as to the number of saloons. For this reason Miss Field spoke in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania against prohibition, believing that the best statute of the kind in the United States, is the Brooks law which is now in force in the latter state. The speeches of Miss Field had a telling effect in the campaign, and of course the leaders of the prohibition movement were greatly troubled over her success. Villainous attacks all along the prohibition line were made against Miss Field. One clergyman of Wilkesbarre charged that out of 30,000,000 women in the country she was the only one misrepresenting her sex.

But assaults for worse than this were made upon Miss Field. The Wilkesberre Record, the organ of the prohibitionists in Luzerne county, went so far as to print in its colunns a ficticious article representing Miss Field as clerk of "Lazarhouse county" in which she announces that she will grant licenses for the manufacture and sale of obscene pictures and literature, and will license places for the exhibition of nude women. It would be difficult to find in the office of the Police News, or any other paper of its class, or among liquor men themselves, one so devoid of common decency, as the persons in Wilkesbarre engaged in the foul and outrageous assaults upon the character of woman. In the Philadelphia Times, Miss Field's answer to this is—

The human beings calling themselves "christians" should be guilty of such villainy would be incredible were not the proof before me. It is the worst form of libel of a woman and I have consulted a lawyer as to what should be done. Verily this is a most licentious country if prohibitionists are permitted to sign a woman's name to their own vile conceptions.

But Miss Field does not stop here. She has gone to the courts for protection, and the defamers of her character will suffer for their crime against woman.

This is the spirit of very many of the third party leaders in this country. They lack conscience. They do not show a spirit of fairness. They are malignant and full of hate, and therby do the cause of prohibition much harm. The way to reach men is to secure their confidence, and not malign them. The way to help on a cause is to throw some christian spirit in the movement, and the result will not be a failure.

The bureau of labor statistics of this state has prepared the following table which shows the percentage of factory employes in the towns and cities named, to the whole population:

	Total present population.	Factory population, per cent
Racine	22,000	18¼
LaCrosse	28,000	12¼
Sheboygan	14,000	24¼
Oshkosh	25,000	12¾
Fondidu Lac	14,500	10½
Janesville	11,500	10½
Appleton	12,000	9
Kenosha	5,900	16
Menasha	4,500	20
Madison	16,000	5
Whitewater	16,000	5
Manitowoc	7,500	8
Neenah	5,500	10¼
Depere	2,400	19
Two Rivers	2,800	16
Ft. Howard	4,000	10
Ft. Atkinson	2,200	16
Jefferson	2,600	8
Cedarburg	1,400	12½
Beloit	6,000	15
Plymouth	1,270	10
Eau Claire	23,000	7¼
Watertown	9,000	5
Green Bay	7,500	3¼
Jefferson	2,500	8

It is estimated that the total population of the towns and cities named in that foregoing table, is 234,170, and the actual number of factory employes is 27,831. It will be seen that nearly one-quarter of the population of Sheboygan is engaged in factory work.

The voters of Rhode Island have repealed the prohibitory law in that state by a large majority. There were 28,449 votes for the repeal and only 9,853 against it. Three years ago when the amendment was adopted the vote stood 15,113 for a 9,230 against. This shows a remarkable change in public sentiment. The reason of this is that the law was not enforced and could not be for lack of a strong moral sentiment to compel the authorities to prosecute the offenders.

Mrs. Hetty Green, of New York enjoys an income of $3,000 a day, and her total yearly expenses are said to be less than $2,000. Her fortune at present is estimated at $30,000,000, and it is climing at the rate of more than a million a year.

MUSICAL MELANGE.

Sir Arthur Sullivan is composing the music for a grand opera.

Strauss, the great Vienna waltz writer and conductor, is to visit America next year and teach our musicians how to play a waltz.

It is rumored that Sarasate, the violin virtuoso, and Otto Hegner, the rival to little Hofmann, will visit the States together next winter.

Miss Hope Glenn was married May 16 to Richard Hurd of Boston. Sir Arthur Sullivan, with whom she has always been a great favorite, gave her away.

It seems as if Tamagno were going to be the leading tenor of Mr. Abbey's opera company next season. Should his terms prove exorbitant then Masini may be engaged.

Duncan Harrison has made George W. Childs, the venerable philanthropist of Philadelphia, an offer of $5,000 for Thomas Moore's harp, which is in his possession. Mr. Childs is considering the offer.

During the rehearsal of a new opera at the New York Casino recently the property man became delirious, a chorus girl fainted, and the stage manager went out of his head. If the music has that effect on the principals in the piece how will it affect the audience.

The Czar of Russia continues to blow on a cornet and the Nihilists are growing more frantic, while the Prince of Wales is preparing for the day when he will have to earn his living by "plunking" a California harp—that being the absurd name that cockneys have for a banjo.

A Cincinnati paper says: "Chicago don't want very much—only Patti and Albani together in opera, to open the new Auditorium, It is confidently expected that they will ask for Von Bulow to lead the orchestra, with Musin as first violin." Well, why not? Chicago can stand it if they can.

The late Carl Rosa was a "boy prodigy" and was billed at concerts as the "Juvenile Paganini." He married Mme. Parepa, the prima donna, during his first tour of the United States. He is said to have never taken a benefit or testimonial in any form. Music was his profession, but politics and pictures were his pet hobbies.

It will interest musicians to hear that perhaps the first violinist in the world, Joachim, could be thus criticised with justice. On the occasion of the jubilee in London the World said: "One of the most remarkable incidents of the last evening was the phenomenal purity of Joachim's intonation. It is not always so, but on that evening his intonation was wonderful."

"My father, at about the age of fifty lost all the hair from the top of his head After one month's trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor, the hair began coming, and, in three months, he had a fine growth of hair of the natural color."—P. J. Cullen, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Yellow-Fever Scare in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Dr. Duncan, the surgeon of the Pacific Mail steamship Colon, who was taken ill with yellow-fever, was removed from 173 Hancock street, Brooklyn, last night to quarantine under the direction of Health Officer Smith of the port of New York. The patient was very much weaker than at any time since the dreaded disease seized him. The house in which the patient was confined has been fumigated and every possible precaution is being taken to prevent a spread of the disease. Much excitement prevails in the neighborhood and many persons are moving.

An Australian Victory.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 21.—George Mulholland of Australia knocked out Neily Manning of this city in the forty-seventh round of a finish fight, Queensberry rules, at the rooms of the Southern California Athletic club last night.

AT Peoria, Ill., burglars broke into the saloon of Joseph Jenochros and stole $500 from the safe.

O'SULLIVAN WOULD TALK.

THE ICEMAN READY TO MAKE A CONFESSION.

He Sends for the State's Attorney—Martin Burke Identified at Winnipeg.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The coils are drawing closer every day. One of Dr. Cronin's actual murderers is a prisoner at Winnipeg, according to the best belief of the Chicago police. Another is a fugitive with the mark of Cain on his brow. The man Cooney is believed by the police to have been the active partner of Martin Burke and they are leaving nothing undone to effect his capture.

The capture of Burke and the identification of his partner has had its effect on the prisoners now confined in the county jail under indictment for the slaughter of the Irish politician, and the news of the latest developments has not failed to impress Woodruff, Dan Coughlin, and P. O'Sullivan, the iceman. Woodruff has given the case less attention than his fellow-prisoners, but Coughlin has taken it seriously.

On O'Sullivan the developments have fallen with harsh effect. He has about broken down. He is willing to tell all he knows, and if the State's Attorney had been willing to listen to the story all the details of the awful plot would have been unfolded to him last night. Yesterday O'Sullivan asked for a personal interview with Sheriff Matson, who readily granted the meeting. Immediately afterward Matson hurried away to the grand jury room and insisted on an interview with State's Attorney Longenecker. Matters were progressing so favorably in the grand jury room that the State's Attorney declared that he had no inclination to listen to O'Sullivan's story.

The sheriff had another conversation with his prisoner and he again sought the State's attorney with more success. Mr. Longnecker went to the jail and held a consultation with O'Sullivan. Plain language was used. O'Sullivan was given to understand that the State was making encouraging headway on the case and could practically go ahead without "squealers." But the State's attorney said:

"O'Sullivan, we believe you know a good deal more about this case than we do. We will get to the bottom of it without your assistance, but you can help us. We are making no promises, but if you choose to tell what you know it will be better for you. You have doubtless read, in sworn evidence, that men were sent to England and there betrayed to the gallows, and it is for you to say whether or not you want to take chances of being sent to the gallows in pretty much the same way."

The State's Attorney left the prisoner under the firm impression that the latter was ready to tell all he knew. Then O'Sullivan asked the sheriff, or rather his jailers, that he be transferred to the boys' department of the jail, a refuge sought by all "squealers." It was not difficult for him to find acquiescence from the sheriff; the transfer was made, and O'Sullivan is cut off from communication with Dan Coughlin and Frank Woodruff.

O'Sullivan may not be able to name the instigators of the awful plot which brought him into trouble, but he can tell of his relations with Coughlin and of his connection with camp 20 of the Clan-na-Gael. He can tell, also, when and why the Washington Literary society was organized, and of the reasons he had for desiring to make the contract with Dr. Cronin. He can tell who the people were who rented the cottage, and also who the man was who drove the horse which carried Dr. Cronin away. He can tell of Dan Coughlin's connection with the conspiracy from beginning to end, and, it is believed, will be able to show under what authority Coughlin was acting.

With O'Sullivan's evidence the bottom will drop out of the whole conspiracy, and the Lake View iceman will sacrifice himself to the penitentiary to avoid the gallows.

Squealed on Burke.

A story was gleaned at police headquarters this morning which indicates that Chief Hubbard is quite safe in his bold assertions regarding Burke's guilt. The story is to the effect that the man has been found who declares that Burke revealed part of the plot to him in endeavoring to induce him to become a party to it. Burke was a most unfortunate selection on the part of the plotters, as he used every cent he could get to procure liquor. He, knowing a great many "tough" people, was commissioned to find a man who would take a certain share in the murder. Burke was cautioned, as he valued his life, not to reveal any of the plot to the fellow, but simply hire him to do a certain amount of work, which would be of such a character that he would not know that a crime was to be committed. Burke being already in the plot, and knowing the grip he had on his fellow-conspirators, demanded money. Of course he got it, and then he loaded up with liquor and went after his man, and in his maudlin condition told all about the scheme to take Dr. Cronin's life. The plot, as Burke gave it to the man who has given up to the police, was totally different to that which was carried out.

IDENTIFICATION COMPLETE.

Burke Is the Man Wanted—Transferred to Jail and Manacled.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, June 21.—Officer John M. Collins of Chicago arrived Thursday and identified Martin Burke as the man wanted for the Cronin murder. Immediately upon his arrival he proceeded to the police station, and, together with Chief of Police McRae, entered Burke's cell. Burke looked up as they entered and Collins remarked: "Well, Burke, this is a bad place to be in." Burke replied, instantly: "Yes, John, it is," but a minute later denied any knowledge of the Cronin detective.

Collins, however, was satisfied and retired. With Chief McRae he drove to the residence of Judge Bain, where an information was sworn out charging that "the said Martin Burke, alias W. J. Cooper, on or about the 4th of May, in the year of our Lord 1889, at the city of Chicago, did feloneously, willfully, and of malice aforethought, kill, and murder one Patrick H. Cronin."

On a warrant being issued by Judge Bain, Burke was removed from the police station to the city jail.

In view of the change Burke was heavily manacled and transferred from the police court to the provincial jail, where he was put in the cage reserved for murderers. Burke seems to feel his position very keenly, although he bears up with an amount of spirit surprising under the circumstances.

Early in the day Collins telegraphed to Chief Hubbard notifying him of his complete identification of Burke. He then asked his chief to send on the necessary witnesses and other evidence at once.

HIS LABORS OVER.

Rev. Father Carroll, the Aged Priest, Dead.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Father Jonn Carroll is dead. The veteran priest died this morning at 2:45 o'clock at Mercy hospital after a prolonged illness. Father Carroll's life has been a beautiful one. For 69 years he has toiled in his Master's vineyard and he will now reap the fruit of his years of labor.

He was born June 30, 1796, in Queens county, Ireland. When yet young he became a favorite with his uncle, the renowned Bishop Bourke of Halifax, who took him in charge and personally educated him. As the uncle was a man of great scholarly attainments the nephew became one also. June 29, 1820, Bishop Bourke ordained Father Carroll to the priesthood, and the young priest was stationed in the diocese of Halifax. He performed active missionary service and made hosts of converts among the French Canadians.

For his able work as a missionary Father Carroll was made vicar-general of the Halifax diocese, a post which he filled for many years with honor. He resided at Niagara Falls for some years, but becoming restless he moved west to Woodstock. It was in 1869 that he first became actively identified with the interests of this diocese and became a prime favorite with the late Bishop Foley. Everybody knew him then as "Old" Father Carroll, and as such he has since remained.

He was nearly 80 years old when he came to Chicago. The other priests were at first inclined to think that Father Carroll was too old for active service, but the old man soon caused them to change their minds. One after another of the young priests of the city were invited to go out with him when making his calls in the city and suburbs. Those who did go never forgot their experience, for the sturdy old priest was a pedestrian and set a pace that they found hard to rival.

Old age, not disease, was the cause of the veteran's death.

STRIKING AT JOHNSTOWN.

Many Laborers Quit Work—Trouble Is Anticipated.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 21.—The strike among the laboring men here is fairly on. There are not more than one thousand at work. Those employed by McKnight, the Pittsburg contractor, are idle, and the dissatisfaction and discord is spreading.

Domineering bosses and short rations are the causes. The military are on active duty and a local company of the Fifth regiment has been ordered out. While everything appears quiet on the surface there is a fear that discord may break out at any time, and that a riot will follow. A largely attended meeting of the strikers was held in the open square this morning, and their grievances were freely discussed. A committee of twenty was appointed to confer with those men at work and to discover the exact number of men in sympathy with the strike. Three carloads of Italians arrived here this morning from the east, but a committee of striking Italians met them at the station and persuaded them not to leave the train until the present labor trouble is settled. The new-comers were side-tracked and will be fed by the strikers.

The committee appointed at the morning meeting of the striking laborers reported to a meeting held an hour later that all the foreign men had laid off, but that all the local men at the request of the strikers have continued work. Another meeting will be held at which a committee consisting of all the bosses will be appointed to confer with the contractors, with a view to rearranging the entire wage system. William Flinn of Pittsburg has just arrived here and is in consultation with Gen. Hastings.

A MARVEL OF GRIM NERVE.

A Diver Completes a Task Though His Leg Is Cut Off in Doing It.

BOSTON, Mass., June 21.—James Bennett, a submarine diver employed in clearing up Rockport harbor, gave an astonishing exhibition of pluck to-day. He was at work under fifteen feet of water. The chain slipped from a twelve-ton rock and the mass fell back upon his leg, crushing it and pinioning him there. Without giving any signal of distress he did the only thing possible—replaced the chain as best he could and signalled to hoist. A second time the rock fell. This time it took the poor fellow's leg completely off. With the nerve of a hero he hobbled about until he had secured the chain again and the rock was hoisted. Then he allowed himself to be raised to the surface. The doctor thinks he will recover.

SIMON CAMERON VERY ILL.

The Old Republican Leader Stricken With Paralysis at His Home.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 21.—Gen. Simon Cameron was prostrated to-day at his home, Donegal Springs, with paralysis of the right arm and side, and his condition is critical. Ex-Attorney-General Wayne MacVeagh and Mrs. Haldeman, Gen. Cameron's daughter, are with him.

Red Cloud Still Holds Out.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, D. T., June 21.—Gov. Foster and Maj. Warner of the commission this morning held a private council with Red Cloud and three half-breeds who are recognized as his confidential advisers. The discussion lasted two hours, but, so far as can be learned, it has no marked result. There seems now to be no probability of breaking the opposition here except by securing the support of individual Indians and in this manner disintegrating Red Cloud's following. Should these desertions become large enough to make the opposition believe the bill will carry in spite of them the result will be the same as at Rosebud. Gen. Crook is having a conference with his old scouts. About one hundred are present. All of these have signed, or will sign, and their combined influence will be a powerful lever, as they are scattered throughout the different bands of the agency.

THE STORY OF A YEAR.

PHOTOGRAPH FROM LIFE TAKEN ONE YEAR AGO.

PHOTOGRAPH FROM LIFE AS SHE NOW APPEARS.

The above bright and benevolent face, is Dr. A. W. Acker, of England, discoverer of the celebrated Acker's English Remedy for Consumption and other popular preparations. Dr. Acker practised in his younger days among the middle classes of London, and was the means of doing great good, but his health failed and he found himself in the grasp of consumption, with a wife and child depending upon him for support. While in this condition, he discovered the celebrated English Remedy, saved his own life and has since saved the lives of thousands who were on the sure road to death. Any man or woman who feels a tickling in the throat, who coughs, especially in the morning, who raises or has a tight feeling across the chest, who has sharp shooting pains through the lungs or difficulty in breathing, should realize that these are the first symptoms of consumption which, if neglected, are sure to result fatally. Dr. Acker's English Remedy has cured more than one thousand persons who unquestionably had consumption and who were given up by their friends. It merits its popularity and is sold by reputable druggists in every city and town in America. You can't afford to be without it.

"Look on this picture and then on that." The above faces are exact reproductions of photographs taken from life of Mrs. Morton D. Harlan, who resides at No. 55 West 25th Street, New York City. The first one was taken in November, 1887, while in the last stages of consumption, abandoned by physicians and mourned by friends. The other was taken in December, 1888, when completely recovered, and entirely through the use of Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption. The above pictures are wood cuts, but they are true to life and the original photographs, taken from life, can be seen at all the drug stores. Mrs. Harlan's consumption began as consumption usually does, with a cough in the morning, raising of phlegm, tired and depressed feelings, a lack of appetite, the loss of flesh and pains throughout the body. She did not realize her extreme danger until it became almost too late, but she is in perfect health to-day. Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption is sold by all reputable druggists. You can't afford to be without it.

AN EXTENSIVE ROBBERY.

PECULIAR DISAPPEARANCE OF A VALUABLE POUCH.

A Southern Mail Bag Vanishes Between the Postoffice and Depot—The Criminal Record.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 21.—All the mail that left the Nashville postoffice for the South on the night of May 7 has disappeared. The fact has been withheld by the postoffice officials that the investigation might not be hampered. For two days a government inspector or detective has been in the city, but he has proceeded so quietly that his presence has been known to only attaches of the department, and not all of them were aware of his coming. The mail for Southern points as far as New Orleans was arranged as usual, put in a pouch, locked up and delivered at the door of the postoffice to the driver of the wagon which carries mail to the depot. The pouch was locked up in the wagon, which drove off toward the depot, and that is the last heard of it as yet.

The loss of the pouch was detected in two or three days and in this way: According to a rule of the Government a number of Southern postoffices are required to daily remit to the Nashville postoffice an excess of receipts over a certain sum, which varies according to the volume of business done at a place. This is done that no large sum of money may be stopped at any office. Nashville in turn makes a daily remittance to Louisville and Louisville to New York. Receipts for these remittances are daily sent to the postmasters forwarding the money. On May 9 the postmasters to whom receipts were due from Dr. Currey for remittances of May 6 wrote that their vouchers had not arrived. The banks at Franklin, Columbia, and Pulaski then notified him of the failure to get checks, etc. Proof that the entire mail from Nashville to the South had disappeared rapidly accumulated, and Dr. Currey made an investigation. He learned, it is stated, that the mail pouch had been delivered at the door of the postoffice, as usual to the driver at the contractors' wagon. The mail clerk on the train which should have received the postage, stated that he had never seen anything of it. The pouch, it was thus reasoned, had disappeared after leaving the postoffice. But how?

To settle the question, Dr. Currey, on May 13, notified the department at Washington that it might make an investigation. Nothing further was heard in this connection until, as stated, Mr. Stubbs, a special agent came to Nashville last Tuesday to hunt the affair down. It is impossible now to learn how much money was in the mail. It was destined for a large and important territory, and the presumption is that the pouch contained much valuable matter.

HAZELTINE MURDER TRIAL.

It Begins at Waupaca, Wis., but a Very Important Witness Is Missing.

WAUPACA, Wis., June 21.—The prosecution in the Curran case is lacking an important witness, and in connection with his death are sensational rumors, the only foundation for which is that the origin of the fire which destroyed the St. James hotel at Stevens Point last week and cremated three of the inmates was a mystery. Of the inmates who perished in the flames one was Charles Oatball, and he is the important witness who is so much missed by the prosecution. It is claimed that he was the only witness outside of the small boy who testified before the coroner's jury who actually saw the shooting. As Oatball did not testify before the coroner's jury at the time, he was expected to be a most important witness at the trial, it being claimed that he saw John Curran fire the fatal shot at Hazeltine. At the time of the tragedy he was a bus-driver for the Commercial house at Stevens Point. The case is on trial at last, but its progress thus far has been very slow.

MOST BRUTAL MURDER.

A Man of 41 Years Kills a Girl of 14 With Whom He Was in Love.

MYSTIC, Conn., June 21.—A brutal murder was committed at West Mystic this morning. Alvin Park, a widower, aged 41, employed as a cook on a fishing smack, was in love with a 14-year-old girl named Littlefield. The girl refused to notice his attentions. This aroused his jealousy and he decided to ruin or murder her. He called on her last Sunday, and, being refused admittance to the house, broke all the windows. This morning he went to the house, and, bursting in the door, fired four shots at the girl, all of which took effect, and any one of which would have proved fatal. One bullet entered the girl's head, one her abdomen, and two pierced her breast. She fell out of the chair she was sitting in and died almost instantly. Park has been arrested and held for trial.

Killed His Wife and Himself.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 21.—A terrible tragedy was enacted at Carbon, Clay county. Conrad Bauman, a German, killed his wife and then committed suicide. The weapon used was a bulldog revolver, and Mrs. Bauman was shot twice through the head, she lingering half an hour before death. Bauman was aged 45 years and his wife 22. He was in good circumstances. The crime is attributed to jealousy.

Though Shaken Like a Leaf

By the most trivial causes, weak nerves are easily susceptible of invigoration, a term which also imports, in this instance, quietude. The nerves have but to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters systematically to overcome supersensitiveness of the human sensorium, which is subversive of all bodily comfort and mental tranquility, and which reacts most hurtfully upon the system. The difficulty underlying this, as well as many other ailments, is imperfect assimilation, no less than incomplete digestion of food. In the discharge of both the digestive and assimilative functions, the Bitters are the most potent, the most reliable auxiliary. As the body regains vigor and regularity by its aid, the brain and nervous system are also benefited. Persons subject to the influence of malaria, dyspeptic and rheumatic invalids, and persons whose kidneys are inactive, should use the Bitters.

Famous Women.

It is a significant fact that most of the women who have achieved fame in art, literature, or "affairs," have enjoyed vigorous health. This shows that the mind is never capable of the severe and continued application necessary to creative work, unless the body is at its best. The woman who aspires to fill an exalted place among her associates, must be free from nervous debility and female weaknesses. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will banish these, and it is warranted to restore those functional harmonies which are indispensible to health. As a specific for all those chronic weaknesses and ailments peculiar to women, it is unequaled.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. SAD CASE OF DROWNING.

UNFORTUNATE END OF A PLEASURE TRIP.

Destructive Storm in Dakota—Several Accidents to Lake Vessels—The Casualty Record.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 21.—John F. Aughinbaugh, a compositor, aged 25 years, and Miss Mary A. Campbell, about 20 years old, employed as a press-feeder, went to Gloucester beach yesterday afternoon, and, hiring a boat, rowed out into the Delaware river, where they allowed themselves to drift with the tide.

Late in the evening when Aughinbaugh attempted to row back to Gloucester he could make no headway against the strong current. He hailed several passing boats, but they did not heed his call. About 9 p. m. the captain of the schooner Thomas W. Hyde of Portland, Me., which was being towed to sea, saw the boat in which the pair was seated, and in response to the appeal told them to come alongside and he would take them on board. Aughinbaugh steered wildly and ran into the schooner, partly capsizing his frail craft. A line was quickly thrown out and the young woman was hoisted up nearly to the schooner's rail, when she lost her hold and fell back into the water. She was carried under by the swift current and was not seen again. Aughinbaugh, who was taken almost to the Delaware breakwater, came back to Philadelphia to-day and went immediately to police headquarters, where he told his story.

WRECKED BY A WINDSTORM.

Fifty Thousand Dollars Damage Done at Vermilion, D. T.

VERMILION, D. T., June 21.—A heavy windstorm struck this place at 12:45 this morning, doing considerable damage. Col. Jonathan Kimball's new residence, the Catholic church, and a building on the fair grounds are total wrecks. Several houses were removed from their foundations, and steeples, chimneys, and outhouses are generally flat. The loss is estimated at about $50,000.

ALL MAY BE LOST.

The Maggie Avery Has Not Been Heard from Since Saturday.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., June 21.—The schooner Maggie Avery left Traverse City Saturday night laden with brick for this port and has not been heard from. Capt. H. G. Edwards and Mate John Tooley, both of this place, were on board. A diligent search has been made and it is believed she sunk during the gale on Saturday night with all hands on board.

TWELVE HUNDRED PERISH.

Half of the City of Lachan Destroyed by Fire, Occasioning Awful Loss of Life.

SHANGHAI, June 21.—One-half of the important city of Lachan in the province of Szechuen was recently destroyed by fire. The conflagration raged four days. It is estimated that 1,200 persons were killed. Most of them were crushed in trying to escape from the narrow streets. Ten thousand persons are homeless. A fund has been started for the relief of the sufferers.

KILLED BY A BASE BALL.

James Feeney, a 3-Year-Old Baby, Fatally Hurt by a Batted Ball.

CHICAGO, June 21.—James Feeney, a 3-year-old boy, was instantly killed while playing on the street in front of his home, 179 Ohio street, about 8 o'clock last evening, by being struck by a baseball batted by a young man who was playing with some chums in the street.

The Cleveland in a Bad Fix.

DULUTH, Minn., June 21.—The steamer City of Cleveland, aground on the north shore of Lake Superior, is in a bad fix. She is water logged, and if the wind should change would soon go to pieces. There is little if any insurance. The vessel belongs chiefly to Bradley & Tate of Cleveland, and carries no insurance. The John Martin has a submarine diver at work on her. He reports her foot gone, her keel badly damaged, and she is leaking very badly. Total loss probably $125,000.

Word is received that the tug Adams and the schooner Monterery, ore-laden for Cleveland, are ashore on Sand island. A wrecking crew has gone to their rescue.

Very Dangerously Hurt.

CHICAGO, June 21.—George Meyers is at the Alexian Brothers' hospital suffering from a wound which may prove fatal. He was employed in a piano factory and had a quarrel with J. T. Leeson, the engineer of the factory. Leeson stabbed him under the left arm. Meyers walked to his home on Elston avenue and regarded the wound as a slight one. But during the evening he commenced to suffer greatly and about midnight appeared at the East Chicago avenue station and reported the case to the hospital. Leeson is under arrest.

A $60,000 Blaze at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 21.—The storage shed of the Delaware River Chemical works, at Morris street wharf, was destroyed by fire this morning, with the contents, about 3,000 tons of bone meal, which, mixed with acid, is used as a fertilizer. The works are owned by the Baugh & Sons company, who estimate their loss at $60,000, which is nearly covered by insurance.

Floods in Kansas.

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—Dispatches from Southeastern Kansas say that Neosho river is at flood height, is out of its banks in numerous places, and that many thousand acres of wheat and other grain are submerged and destroyed. In Neosho county alone the damage to crops is estimated at over half a million dollars.

BIG WHEAT CROP EXPECTED.

Rains in the Northwest Brighten the Prospect for a Big Yield.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 21.—Rain fell last night and this morning over about one-half of the northwest territory, insuring good crops. Conservative estimates made on 'change this morning placed the wheat crop for Minnesota and Dakota at from seventy to one hundred million bushels. Should everything prove favorable a crop of at least one hundred million bushels can be safely expected, while should favorable weather set in from now on the outlook is good for an increase over last year of at least fifteen or twenty million bushels in the Northwest. While the rain has greatly benefitted the crops it has had very little effect on lumber interests.

More Mormon Converts Arrive.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Three hundred and forty-five Mormons, men, women, and children, arrived this morning on the steamship Wyoming, en route for Salt Lake City.

The Only Remedy.

Those who suffer from foul breath are open to the charge of carelessness. It is an offense that can be speedily abated, as a single bottle of the fragrant SOZODONT will unmistakably accomplish the work. It will preserve and keep the teeth white, and the breath pure and sweet.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following; Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with abscess of lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says. "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in the best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at F. Sherer & Co's drugstore.

THERE IS NO ONE ARTICLE IN THE LINE of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed Belladonna Backache Plasters.

The Old Doctors

Drew blood, modern doctors cleanse it; hence the increased demand for Alteratives. It is now well known that most diseases are due, not to over-abundance, but to impurity, of the Blood; and it is equally well attested that no blood medicine is so efficacious as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"One of my children had a large sore break out on the leg. We applied simple remedies, for a while, thinking the sore would shortly heal. But it grew worse. We sought medical advice, and were told that an alterative medicine was necessary. Ayer's Sarsaparilla being above all others, we used it with marvelous results. The sore healed and health and strength rapidly returned." — J. J. Armstrong, Weimar, Texas.

"I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be an admirable remedy for the cure of blood diseases. I prescribe it, and it does the work every time." — E. L. Pater, M. D., Manhattan, Kansas.

"We have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla here for over thirty years and always recommend it when asked to name the best blood-purifier." — W. T. McLean, Druggist, Augusta, Ohio.

"Ayer's medicines continue to be the standard remedies in spite of all competition." — T. W. Richmond, Bear Lake, Mich.

A GLAD RESTORATION.

Mother and Son United After Years of Separation.

Probably the happiest woman in Chicago is a Mrs. Peterson, who after four years' vain search for her eldest born has once again clasped the little fellow to her arms.

Six years ago Mrs. Johnson, as she was then, sailed from Norway to join her husband in Chicago, bringing her little boy with her. Her husband did not meet her, and after weeks of inquiry she learned that he had died after a brief illness in the County Hospital while she was yet on the ocean.

She could not earn a living and take care of the boy, so she had him boarded with a family from her own land. A fever prostrated her mentally and physically, and, like her husband, she also found her way to the County Hospital. Months elapsed before her reason was restored, and when she recovered her first thought was of her boy.

Then she learned that the family with whom she had left him had gone to some obscure point in the Northwest. All trace of her child was lost. After patient inquiry she ascertained that he had not accompanied them but had been left with another family on Wesson street. These people, too, were gone, nobody knew where. In vain the distracted mother sought day after day for the lost little son.

At length an old friend of her own nationality pursuaded her to marry him, for Mrs. Johnson, despite her care and grief, was still good looking.

He was a kindly natured man and did all in his power to help her find her boy. Two other children came to her, but they could not wean her love from her first born. So great had grown her anxiety to find him that her husband feared her mind would give way under the strain She frequented Newspapers' alley and scrutinized every face there. The other day, just before dusk, she paused in front of a group of four or five gamins. Suddenly she bent forward and asked one his name

"Frank," he answered.

"What else?"

"Johnson," replied the child.

"Look at me," she demanded, almost fiercely. "Am I not your mother? Look! Look!"

The boy looked up, half frightened for a moment.

She drew him to her side, minutely scrutinized his features, excitedly asking him questions about where he had lived. Gradually the boy seemed to remember all the incidents of his life since she had left him to go to the hospital, nearly four years ago. He even told the name of the family with whom he was boarding at the time.

With happy tears streaming down her face, his mother, now Mrs Peterson, led him home. Her husband has a comfortable home on Follansbee street, and a happier gathering it would be difficult to find than this carpenter's when mother and son entered it.

Old Country Whims About Babies.

Among Vosges peasants children born at new moon have their tongues better hung than others, while those born at the last quarter have less tongue, but reason better. A daughter born during the waxen moon is always precocious. A pair of tongs or knife put in the cradle will satisfy the Welsh mother as to her child's safety. The knife is also used in parts of England.

A small bit of red ribbon is all the Roumanian infant requires to secure it from harm, while the Esthonian mother attaches a bit of assafœtida to the child's neck. Garlic, salt, bread, and steak are first put in the cradle of a new born child in Holland. A sufficient preventative for an Irish babe is a belt made of a woman's hair. In lower Brittany on the birth of a child neighboring women at once take it in charge, wash it, crack its joints, and rub its head with oil to "solder its cranium bones."

It is then wrapped up in a tight bundle and its lips moistened with brandy "to make it a full Breton."

In modern Greece the mother, before putting the child in its cradle, turns three times around before the fire singing her favorite song to ward away all evil spirits. In Scotland it is also said that to rock the empty cradle will insure the coming of other occupants for it.

"If you rock the cradle empty
Then you shall have babies plenty."

The Swedish mother puts a book under the head of the new-born infant that it may be quick at reading, and puts money into the first bath to guarantee its possession in the future. The Turks load the child with amulets as soon as it is born, and a small bit of mud well steeped in a jar of hot water, prepared by previous charms, is stuck on its forehead. In Spain the child's face is swept with a pine tree bough to bring good luck.

Pearson as an Inventor.

When little more than a boy the late Postmaster Pearson of New York invented a life saving boat, He was poor and unable to raise the money necessary to have his invention patented. He went to a man of some means, who promised to take the boat in hand and see that it was properly put before the public in consideration of an interest in it. When young Pearson found that the product of his inventive genius was marketed he also discovered that by some legal trickery he had been wholly defrauded of his rights in it. The patent proved valuable and boats constructed upon its principle are now in use all along the coast, but Mr. Pearson never received a cent of profit. At the centennial exhibition in Philadelphia in 1876 the original model of this life-saving boat was one of the things to be seen. As Mr. Pearson's eye fell upon it he remarked to the persons who were with him: "There is my boat."

Ample Excuse.

Mother—What time did that young man leave last night?

Miss Laura—About 3 o'clock, I think.

Mother—And you have the impudence to tell me this. I would be highly delighted to hear what excuse you can offer for such outrageous conduct—if you have any to offer.

Miss Laura—We didn't get the last pig in the pen until then, mamma.

A NEAT HOUSE FOR $1,700.

A PROSPECTIVE VIEW, FLOOR PLANS AND DESCRIPTION.

Our Conception of Architecture Changing —Growth of Colonial and Decadence of Queen Anne Styles—Suggestions on Proper Construction.

During the past few years our conception of what a modern house should be has entirely changed. Simplicity, elegance and refinement of design are demanded, and outward display overloaded with cheap, gaudy ornamentation is no longer in favor. Naturally the more expensive houses were the first to get the benefit of architectural inspiration drawn largely from England. But now that English gables and dormers have spread so rapidly, now that we realize the beauty of our own colonial architecture, and that the Queen Anna craze is subsiding, so that only its best features remain, the less ambitious dwellings must not be left to the mercy of those whose ideas of building are limited to scroll-saw brackets and French roofs. It is our intention in presenting this design to show what can be done with a small sum and a home that will meet the wants of many intending builders, which shall be at the same time cozy and picturesque. The following is a somewhat detailed description of the design we illustrate, furnished us by Architect George W. Myers, of Detroit, Mich.

Size of house: width 26 feet, length 36 feet, not including the steps. The building is a two-story frame structure, containing in all eight rooms. In front of the house is a handsome veranda 7x13 feet in size, which opens into a large, well-lighted reception hall 13 feet 4 inches x 13 feet in size. To the right of this hall, and connected by an archway, is the parlor, 12x15 feet, with a fire place and a large bay window. In the rear of the parlor and connected by folding doors is the dining-room, 12x14 feet, with a china closet off 4x4 feet 6 inches, the dining-room having direct communication with the reception hall. In the rear of the building is the kitchen, 10x13 feet 4 inches, with a pantry 4x7 feet 6 inches. From the pantry is the stairs leading to the cellar, which is 12 feet 4 inches x 14 feet.

In the second story over the reception hall is a chamber 7 feet 8 inches by 12 feet 4 inches with a closet 2 feet 4 inches by 7 feet 6 inches. The chamber over the parlor is 12x15 feet in size (with a bay window), and closet 3x4 feet. In the rear of this room is a chamber 11x12 feet in size, with a closet 3x4 feet. At the rear end of the hall is a chamber 9x12 feet 4 inches. At the rear of the stair landing is a bath room 5x7 feet 8 inches. The hall is 4 feet 6 inches wide and 14 feet long and is well lighted. A linen closet 3x3 feet in size opens off the hall. The first story of the building is 9 feet 6 inches high; the second story 9 feet; the cellar 6 feet 6 inches, all in the clear. It is intended that all materials used in this house shall be first-class.

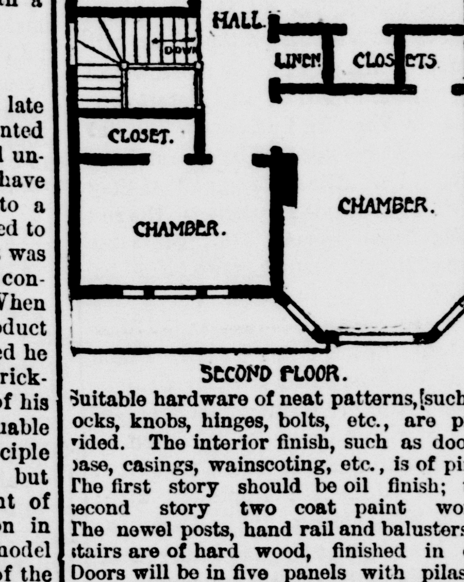
A brief description of the materials and finish is as follows: The first and second stories of the house should be clapboarded, and the gables and roofs shingles. The foundation is built on posts; the walls of the cellar are of brick and the floor concreted. The entire outside of the house is sheathed and between the sheathing and siding is one thickness of air-tight building paper. The windows are glazed with double thick glass and the sash hung with weights.



SECOND FLOOR.

Suitable hardware of neat patterns, such as locks, knobs, hinges, bolts, etc., are provided. The interior finish, such as doors, base, casings, wainscoting, etc., is of pine. The first story should be oil finish; the second story two coat paint work. The newel posts, hand rail and balusters of stairs are of hard wood, finished in oil. Doors will be in five panels with pilaster finish to casings. The pantry is furnished with shelves, drawer and closets for flour barrel, pots and kettles; the china closet is provided with drawers and movable shelves. All closets are fitted up with shelves and clothes hooks. The bath room is provided with a bath tub, marble top wash stand and a water closet of approved pattern. The kitchen is furnished with a cast iron sink. Hot and cold water is supplied to the bath tub, wash stand and sink, the hot water boiler being located in the rear of the stove in the kitchen. All plumbing fixtures are supplied with traps of modern patterns. Pipes are run to supply gas to each room, hall and to the cellar. The exterior of this building is designed to be painted in pleasing and appropriate shades.

In planning a house the simplest is often the best, and what appears so satisfactory and looks as if it were quite the most obvious thing to do, was probably arrived at only after much consideration and thought. It is a comparatively easy matter to plan a house which is intended exclusively for summer or winter occupancy. But in those sections of the country where we have successively samples of every conceivable kind of weather, and we wish to build a permanent residence, the difficulties are numerous. During part of the year we need broad verandas, large windows and doors so arranged that we can get currents of air through the rooms. Fortunately what keeps out the heat keeps out the cold—or rather keeps in the heat—and walls so constructed as to keep the house warm in winter will keep it cool in

The People Repeal the Prohibitory Amendment by a Large Vote.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 21.—The fifth amendment to the constitution of Rhode Island—the prohibitory amendment—was repealed by a vote of 5,469 more than the three-fifths of the total vote necessary to carry the amendment. The question before the people was the adoption of an amendment repealing the prohibitory amendment adopted three years ago. The total vote is: Approve, 28,449; reject, 9,853, In 1886, when the prohibitory amendment was adopted, the vote, which was about 14,000 smaller, stood: Approve, 15,113; reject, 9,230. The vote will be officially counted on or before July 15, and will be announced by proclamation on or before July 20.

McLaughlin and Fitzgerald to Retire.

NEW YORK, June 21.—It is learned from a trustworthy source that James McLaughlin, the great rider, who was for many years the mainstay of the Dwyer stable, but who is under contract to ride this year for the Chicago stable, receiving $12,000 for his services, has agreed to forsake the saddle at the end of this year and take charge of Mr. Pierre Lorillard's string of thoroughbreds at Rancocas farm. With the news of McLaughlin's resolve to forsake the saddle comes the intelligence that "Dare Devil" Fitzpatrick, Mr. Withers' first jockey, has grown tired of reducing, and will ride no more races after this year.

Paymaster Smith Pleads Guilty.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Paymaster Henry B. Smith, who disappeared from the United States ship Essex while the centennial festivities were in progress, but reappeared after the excitement of the celebration had subsided, was arraigned before a court-martial in the navy yard yesterday on the charge of absenting himself without leave. He pleaded guilty, and availed himself of the privilege of introducing testimony to his character, in mitigation of the offense. Commander Sumner of the Galena presided, in the absence of Capt. O'Kane of the Boston.

Mr. Thomas P. O'Connor Testifies.

LONDON, June 21.—At the meeting of the Parnell commission to-day Mr. Thomas P. O'Connor, member of Parliament, was examined. He stated that the turning point in the agrarian struggle in Ireland was the rejection of the compensation-for-improvements bill. Thereupon tenants had to combine in accordance with Mr. Parnell's policy, which substituted constitutional agitation for revolution and open for secret combination. Mr. O'Connor denied that either the league or he sympathized with crime.

Experience has demonstrated that Ely's Cream Balm is the best catarrh remedy in use, My daughter who is a sufferer from that miserable disase, is much better by the use of one bottle.—Dr. R. A. Schouten, druggist, 758 So. Division St., Grand Rapids, Michigan.

For twenty years I have suffered from catarrh. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm of J. Dawson & Son, which has so effectually cured my headache that I feel altogether a new man; I have recommended it to many with like good results.

SOME CURIOUS COMMENTS.

Made by Albany, Ga., Negroes on the City's New Electric Lights.

Here is a batch of comments made by the Albany Ga., negroes on the new electric lights, as reported by the Macon Telegraph. "I'se sorry de white folks put dese 'lectric lights 'roun' town," said one little darkey to his companion, "'cause I can't hook any more apples in front of de stores arter dark," and the mournful tone of his remark indicated the sincerity of his feelings. But another little coon took a brighter view of the situation. Said he: "I'm gwine to shine shoes at night now. I know the white folks ain't gwine to walk around under dese lights, shinin' bright as day, wit de dus all over dey shoes. Golly ain't I glad dey put 'em up." An old black mammy or grandmammy, as the case may be, whose idea of life is the old time slavery habits, said: "Lor", chile, I don't know nothin' 'bout dem things, De white folks always doin' sum'n we niggers don't understan'. I never did think dey was gwine ter make light out of a wire, but dey always doin' som'n strange. Candles is good nuf for me, honey—good nuf fur me," and she ambled aimlessly down the street. One darkey who wished to conceal his ignorance made a great display of it in his explanation to his companion. He was asked; "How does dis thing work?" To which he replied: "Don't you know? You ain't got a bit o' sense, nigger, you can't see. I used to help 'em light up in Atlanta." "How do dey light 'em?" "Why, dey sticks de fire in de furnace, and de wires all run in dar and de lectricity bein' all over de wire, takes de fire ob de furnace and carries it all 'round' town. Dat is sho' a great thing. But it's no use fur me to try and tell you niggers 'bout it, you don't know nothin'," and they did when he had concluded his explanation. "I ain't gwine ter fool wid dem lectrus lights," said a darkey who is porter in one of our leading stores the other night. "I tell yer' lectricity is a dang'ous thing" "Oh, no, boss, I ain't gwine ter ketch hold o' dat string," said a darkey, who was told to catch the string that held the lamp. "I'se afeered it'll bust," was his plausible excuse. Another darkey was told to hold up the wire as it lay stretched across the street. "I don't do dat, boss," was his reply. "One nigger cotch hold o' one dem wires in Mumgumely and his whole family died."

How to Address Secretary Windom.

Secretary Windom gets so many letters that he does not have time to read them. It is a trick the office-seekers have to mark their communications "Personal" with the hope that they may receive greater attention and not be thrown into the waste basket. The Secretary's daily mail contains three or four hundred letters marked "Personal," so that it is impossible for him to open and read them all himself, and he has to turn them over to his private secretary to discriminate between the genuine and bogus. Mrs. Windom is in New York, and in order that her letters may not get into the mail with those from office-seekers she incloses them in a peculiar kind of envelope and writes upon them in a large hand, "From Mrs Windom," so that when the private secretary sees this he can threw them out. The Senators all get their share of mail, and it is mostly of the same character. Some of them do not have time to read the letters they get. Senator Cullom has three clerks at work answering his correspondence, and is several hundred letters behind. Another Senator, whose mail is quite as large, has his wife inclose her letters under cover to his private secretary, in order that he can pick them out of the rest of his mail.

"JUDGE'S" SENTENCES.

Every legitimate day-dream will have a resultant act to show for it.

Every air-castle ever built has its foundations secure in the future.

Wisdom consists principally in knowing what a vast deal one must learn truly to be called wise.

Were the fool to realize the depth of his folly he would straightway be exalted among the sages.

Greatness is no accident. First there must be the seed, and to that must be added the labor of cultivation.

Dreams and work are twin stars, not to be divided unless you would see the one vanish in vapor and the other resolve itself into a degraded form of labor.

To dream successfully every dream must be an incentive to more strenuous effort. Dreams never yet blew a soul into port, but without them what hand would be raised to grasp the oar.

SEVENTH POINT

You should read THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS because you can afford it. Price doesn't stand in the way. It's really the cheapest thing on earth. One cent means practically nothing—until you spend it. Then you may make it mean a great deal, according as you invest it. A thing is cheap if it costs little, and is worth much. THE DAILY NEWS is like a telegraph from the whole world to your brain. To keep it in constant working order costs you but one cent a day. That's why it's cheap—because it renders a great service for an insignificant price.

Remember—Its circulation is 220,000 a day—over a million a week—and it costs by mail 25 cts. a month, four months $1.00,—one cent a day.

In its Worst Form.

BENTON, LAF. CO., WIS., Dec., '88.
Rev. J. C. Bergen vouches for the following: James Rooney who was suffering from Vitus Dance in its worst form for about 1½ years was treated by several physicians without effect, two bottles of Pastor Koenigs Nerve Tonic cured him.

St. Francis Wis. Oct 24, 1888
A member of my congregation used Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic with good results. The patient was so nervous that he could not find sleep for weeks. He suffered from the most intense anxiety which bordered on insanity. I gave the person some of Koenig's Nerve Tonic and he continued to use it. The appetite returned gradually, the anxiety disappeared the headache left, and to day the sufferer, who had almost despaired, is enjoying excellent health.

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west; is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine-tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle, and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail line to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory, printed in colors.

SUDDENLY CALLED HOME

Little Willie Gibson Falls Into a Barrel of Water.

IS FOUND BY HIS MOTHER.

All Efforts to Resucitate the Little Boy Prove Unsuccessful.

A sad and melancholly accident occurred this afternoon at the home of Mr. Andrew Gibson, 161 North Franklin street, resulting in the death by drowning of Little Willie, the two year old household pet. The accident occurred between the noonday meal and half past one o'clock, just at what time is unknown. Little Willie was out in the yard at play and strayed over to the house of Mr. Wm. Eller, the next neighbor, and in some manner unknown fell headfirst into a barrel of water at the end of the porch or platform near the house Mrs. Gibson missed her little boy and commenced search, when shortly after she looked in the barrel and beheld her little darling boy. The mother became wild with grief and anxiety for her babe. Neighbors flocked to the house and the little body was carried into its saddened home. Dr. Palmer was called and after working over the little fellow for half an hour pronounced him dead.

Willie was a bright little fellow, the pet of his parents, whose grief at his sad and sudden taking away can only be faintly imagined by those who have never experienced a like loss. Kind people and neighbors were present and did everything in their power to relieve the distracted parents, who will have the deepest sympathy of all in their sad bereavement.

Eagerly did those present watch the every move of the doctor while he was endeavoring to resuscitate the little one. While an electric battery was being applied, the arms and legs of the little one would move somewhat, his little hands would close and open as in life, causing the anxious onlookers to express their belief and hope of returning life, by smiling countenances, as if to say "what joy it will be to the heartbroken mother to have her darling restored to her." But alas, it was too late. The battery failed to reclaim and return life to its tenament, as the Father in Heaven had its precious life eternal in His keeping—the doctor pronounced little Willie dead, and all eyes which a few moments before were filled with joyous expectancy were now filled with sympathetic tears for the distracted parents.

His son, John Burns, Jr., is lying at the point of death at Richland Center, Wis., where he went to consult a doctor a few days since, when he was taken suddenly ill. Mr. Burns is a mechanic by trade, and in the employ of the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. at Baraboo. He was formerly a resident of this city, fourth ward, and employed by the Janesville Machine Company. He is a young gentleman very much respected by all, and his friends in this city are much grieved to hear of his illness.

—Sheriff Babcock went to Orford this morning for the purpose of taking George VanOrman, of that place, who has been adjudged insane, to the Mendota asylum at Madison. Mr. Orman is a man fifty years of age and one of the peculiarities of his case is that he is under the impression that he is the private secretary of President Harrison and receives communication from him every ten minutes and orders he is under bonds to carry out no matter what nature they are. He is at present in a condition dangerous to his friends and his removal to the insane asylum is a matter of necessity.

—The entrance examination to Lake Forest College and Ferry College for young ladies at Lake Forest, Ill., will be held at the college hall June 25th and 26th. Lake Forest is a suburb of Chicago situated on the shore of Lake Michigan about thirty miles north of the city. It thus combines the advantages of a residence in a city with those of an attractive and healthful resort. Connected with the college is an under graduate department for young ladies, girls and boys. This institution has excellent facilities for classical and scientific work and deserves liberal patronage.

WAS IT A MURDER?

A Drunken Row at Monterey on Wednesday Night.

AND ONE DEATH RESULTS.

Michael Barron is the Subject of a Coroner's Inquest—The Particulars.

Considerable excitement was created on the streets last evening when the report was circulated that a man had been found dead in the barn of Mrs. Mary Barron, 54 North street, fourth ward. It was soon learned that the dead man was Michael Barron, a son of the late Martin Barron, and that he had been placed in his mother's barn by some friends in the early morning to "sober up," he having been on a spree during the previous night.

It appears from the statements of several parties who were in the unfortunate man's company during Wednesday night and Thursday morning, that Barron, who is engaged in farming on the Madison road just beyond the cemeteries, was in the city on a spree. Late on Wednesday night after the saloons had closed and while making his final rounds previous to retiring for the night, Marshal Hogan found Michael Barron, his hired man, Pat Mulcairns, Ed. Coppin and Sam Milford at the drinking fountain at the intersection of Pleasant and West Milwaukee streets, near the Northwestern freight depot. They had a single horse and platform buggy. All the men were out of the buggy, apparently getting a drink from the fountain and watering their horse. The men appeared to be under the influence of liquor, but were not staggering drunk. Marshal Hogan took Milford to one side and cautioned him not to interfere with Barron, but let him alone and he would go home. Barron and his hired man Mulcairns, drove down Center avenue and the marshal saw nothing more of the party. Instead of going home Barron and Mulcairns went down to Monterey to a dance which was in progress at the home of Wm. Dwyer, Claron street, near Center avenue. The dance seemed to be "a free-for-all" as the result will show. It appears that a fight took place on the outside, and as near as can be learned, John and Pat Mulcairns on one side and Mike Joyce and Charles Burns on the other, resulting in the throwing of stones, Michael Barron being hit on the head, producing a slight flesh wound so far as could be seen in the night time, but rendering him unconscious. Barron was placed in his buggy and started for a doctor, accompanied by Pat. Mulcarns, Sam Milford, Henry Carlson and Ed. Coppin. Passing up Center avenue towards the city they met Ald. J. B. McLean, who by the aid of a lighted match, discovered that Barron was in a serious condition, and instructed his friends to drive up to the Grand hotel and find Night Officer Ed. Smith, who would assist in caring for him. The party found officer Smith, and then they called on Dr. Robinson, who told the men that Barron ought to be taken to the city hospital. This they did not went to do, saying they wanted to keep the matter quiet. The doctor told them that Barron's condition was serious, and must receive good care. His friends said they would take him down in the fourth ward. They left Dr. Robinson and Officer Smith and went to Dr. Sutherland, who examined the cut on his head, but could not determine whether or not there was a fracture of the skull, his head being much swollen. Dr. Sutherland noticed that the man was drunk, and being informed that they proposed to take him to the home of John Barron, a cousin, said he would go down in a little while and see him. Dr. Sutherland called, but finding everything quiet, returned without disturbing anybody.

Instead of taking him to his cousin's home as they said, he was taken down to his mother's barn on High street, near the fourth ward park. Here he was placed on cushions and a buffalo robe, and left to care for himself.

Later in the morning Mr. William Buck, who resides near by, discovered the man in the barn, as did also Mr. John O'Gara and Mr. George R. Little, who thought him drunk, and paid no attention to him. Between three and four o'clock Mrs. Barron went to the barn and discovered her son and his condition. Dr. C. L. Clark was called, but the unfortunate man died before the arrival of the doctor.

Soon after four o'clock Marshal Hogan was notified of the case, and he took charge of matters, and the body was carried into the home of the mother of the deceased, No. 54 North street.

This morning Justice F. M. Scanlan issued a venire for a coroner's jury, and Constable The. Acheson subpoenaed Messrs. C. H. Lee, Wm. Buck, N. H. Clark, C. Skelly, David Davis, Geo. Keyes, as jurors, who were assembled at Justice Scanlan's office at 9:30 o'clock this morning. After being sworn the jury visited and viewed the remains, and then adjourned until 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning, June 25th.

Mike Joyce and Charles Burns, who were in the fight, left town yesterday, their whereabouts is now unknown, although it is supposed they either went to Madison or Baraboo.

Michael Barron was a widower, his wife having died about three years ago leaving two small children. A sister of the deceased resided on the farm, as house-keeper, and took care of the little children.

The true facts of the row will be brought out at the coroner's inquest. A post-mortem examination of deceased will be held, and the extent of the injuries received by the blow on the head ascertained.

P. S.—Marshal Hogan arrested Mike Joyce at half past two this afternoon, he being one of the party in the row on Wednesday night at Dwyer's.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

On July 3d and 4th the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. will sell excursion tickets between all stations, good returning until the 5th, inclusive, at one fare for the round trip. For tickets and full information apply to agents of Chicago & Northwestern Railway.

IN CIRCUIT COURT.

ARGUMENTS IN THE CELEBRATED MARSH-HARRIS CASE TO BE RESUMED MONDAY.

In the circuit court this forenoon the motion to set the verdict aside and for a new trial in the action of Robert L. Horn against Herman Arndt was overruled.

The motion of the defendant to dismiss the appeal in the action of Abraham Hart et. al. against T. W. Wallis, defendant, the first National Bank garnishee, was overruled and denied, and the same order was entered in the action of Rider against Wallis, defendant the First National Bank garnishee.

The action of Andrian Stickle vs. M. Borgo was on trial this afternoon, Nolan & Cunningham appearing for the plaintiff, and Doe & Sutherland for the defendant.

Court will be in session to morrow, and will continue to hear motions which were pending.

On Monday next arguments in the noted case of James S. Marsh against the Harris manufacturing Co., will be resumed and will probably occupy the attention of the court for four or five days.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

In the municipal court this afternoon the case of Thomas Nash for being a common drunkard, came up before Judge Patterson. Mr. Nash was given sixty days in the county jail.

Also the case of John Edwards for disorderly conduct, who was fined $5 and costs.

The case of Mrs. Susan Quinn for embezzlement, came up, but on account of sickness of defendant, was adjourned for one week.

SOME BRAVE WORDS

CALLED OUT BY THE ACTION OF THE WISCONSIN SALOON MEN.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The report of the secretary of the State Anti-Prohibition Association, made at the meeting at Oshkosh yesterday, openly stated a fact which will force the fight and bring it on much sooner than was anticipated. He stated that every legislative candidate last year was served with a list of questions to be answered, and if he did not pledge himself to vote against temperance legislation, or refused or neglected to answer the questions, the saloon interest was turned against him and he was marked for defeat, no matter what his politics were. He assured the association that marked progress had been made in this way, and indicated that the process was not only to be continued but made more aggressive. There was no secret about it as heretofore, but was openly stated and results boasted of. If this is the plan of campaign, the people who believe in proper restraints and insist upon limiting the field of the American saloon, are not going to avoid the issue. They are ready for a fight if a fight is insisted upon, and the saloon men must blame themselves for the result.

A LITTLE EXCITEMENT.

A SWITCH ENGINE COLLIDES WITH A TRAIN OF FLAT CARS.

At a late hour yesterday afternoon the switchmen and flagmen in the Northwestern yards ran in all directions as though they had been "sent for" by some super-natural power.

A train of flat cars was backing down from the direction of the passenger depot.

The switch engine which stood just out of sight on the other side of the freight depot was started rapidly in the direction of the approaching train. Before anybody had time to think the switch engine collided with the flat cars. They came together with a crash that made all bystanders endeavor to fly to a place of safety. One or two of the flat cars were lifted bodily from the track. The concussion was not severe enough, however, to do much damage. In a minute or two everything resumed its usual quiet and, the men returned to their respective posts of duty.

MUTUALS LEAVE TO-MORROW.

THEY REORGANIZE AND WILL LEAVE FOR THE NORTH IN THE MORNING

The Mutuals Base Ball club of this city has reorganized under the management of W. E. Richardson, and will leave the city on the Northwestern road to-morrow morning at 6:30 o'clock. The club is composed of picked men from this city and Beloit, and is in better condition to do good work on the diamond than ever before. The result of the games played by the Mutuals on their tour will be found in this paper. To-morrow and Sunday the club will be at Watertown; Monday at Fond du Lac, and Tuesday Menasha. They expect to be absent from the city at least fifteen days, and if they meet wish good success perhaps the remainder of the season. The following is a list of the members as far as can be learned:

W. E. Richardson, Manager; G. Wilbur, D. McGinley, John Wilbur, Frank Dougherty, M. Cantillon, John Schicker, Thos. Abbot; William Holmes, of Whitewater, and Rosenthal, of Beloit.

The appointments as far as made are: Watertown, June 22; Appleton, 27th; Menasha, 28th; Oconto, 29th; Escamba, July 2; Marquette, two games July 4th.

The boys will go as far north as Hancock, Michigan. Their many Janesville friends wish them much success.

THE ANNUAL PICNIC.

PROGRAMME OF EXERCISES TO BE ONE OF GREAT INTEREST.

The annual picnic of the Rock County Caledonia society this year promises to be an unusually good one. It will be held at the Rock county fair grounds. The date has not yet been decided upon. People from abroad will take part in the exercises. A committee of arrangements was appointed at the meeting held at Dr. James Mills' office yesterday afternoon consisting of Wm. Paul, Hon Andrew Barlass, R. W. McLean, Edward Hyde, Alexander Galbraith, R. W. King and Dr. James Mills. It was decided to buy a lot in Oak Hill cemetery for the use of Scotchmen who might die here without friends.

The renting of a hall to be used as headquarters for the society came up for discussion but the question was postponed. The meeting was well attended.

SILK WORMS AT HOME.

They are Raised by Several Ladies in the Bower City.

A WONDERFUL PROCESS.

They Keep Them as a Curiosity. They Cannot be Made a Source of Much Profit.

Some of the ladies of the first ward are engaged in an enterprise that but little is known about by many people in the city. It is the culture of silk worms.

Last evening on invitation a reporter of the Gazette visited the home of J. A. Denniston, in the first ward, to witness the performance of these wonderful insects, whose lives are wholly devoted to the manufacture of the cocoon from which silk is obtained. The life and operation of these little creatures is marvelous.

The worm is hatched from a little ash-colored egg no larger than a grain of mustard seed and attains its full growth in about thirty-two days, casting off its outer skin usually four times which are called moultings. The first moulting is about the fourth or fifth day, the second the eighth or ninth, the third about the fourteenth, and the fourth the twenty-second day. At the time of each moulting they cease eating and remain for some hours in a torpid state. Between the moultings they feed and grow very rapidly, and devour enormous quantities of food considering their size. At the end of the fifth age they cease feeding and begin the silk producing operation which lasts about four days. The fibre is exceedingly fine and delicate. They wind themselves up in a ball about the size of a pigeon's egg, which may be reeled off in a continuous thread. The worm remains in the cocoon about twelve or fourteen days when it changes into a miller, eats its way out and in about thirty-six hours begins to deposit eggs, of which each butterfly lays about four hundred. The miller or butterfly never eats but dies in a few days after it has done laying.

"As soon as the worm is ready to begin its silk producing process" said Mrs. Denniston, "I make a small cornucopia out of any ordinary piece of paper in which I place the worm, which at first spins a solid web over the top, entirely enclosing itself, when it commences its work. They will commence their work in any ordinary enclosure, but the small cornucopia seems very well adapted to their purpose." Mrs. Denniston then brought out one of the worms in her hand. When full grown they are about three or four inches long and about an inch around the body.

"These worms seem to possess intelligence to a considerable degree," said Mr. Denniston. "They will raise themselves up as though looking into your face as knowingly as a cat or a dog. It is amusing to see them devour the leaves and berries of the mulberry tree."

"Do you keep them entirely on the leaves and berries of this tree?"

"No, they are very fond of osage orange leaves. Some people claim that they will subsist on lettuce, but I hardly think they will do quite as well on anything as the mulberry, as this is their native food."

"Do you think this business can be carried on in this country with any degree of profit."

"I hardly think so," said Mr. Denniston, "unless it is carried on in a very extensive way, and even then unless help was as cheap as it is in some of the eastern countries, it does not seem to me as though there would be much money in it. Mrs. Denniston raises them more out of curiosity than anything else. We had at one time about twelve hundred worms, but we have given a good many to the neighbors, and lost more or less in various ways. At present we have about six hundred.

It is an interesting sight to watch these creatures devour their food. We sometimes place them on a table. They will stay on any level place like that without danger of crawling around the room. Put before them a large quantity of branches of the mulberry tree and they devour the foliage and berry in a ravenous manner. We can hear them eat all over the house. They seem to relish it exceedingly.".

A number of ladies are trying their hand at this business, and, indeed it is a most wonderful process, very interesting and exceedingly profitable as a study if a person has the time to spend. It is thought that these worms were first brought to the city a number of years ago by a gentleman from Brussels who came here to visit relatives.

THANK YOU, SIR.

HE VOICED HER SENTIMENTS.

The Fond du Lac Commonwealth: This morning a charming girl came gliding along Main street. Suddenly she slipped upon a banana skin, and only with great difficulty saved herself from falling into a slight puddle of water on the walk. Immediately behind her came a well-dressed man with a round, rosy face. He struck the banana peel, too. He recovered himself and with a frown exclaimed, "Damn it!" The charming young lady was standing but a few feet away, and she heard his condemnation. Her ruffled countenance changed at once, and with a gracious smile she turned to the man and with a bow said "Thank you."

CHILDREN'S CUTE SAYINGS.

First boy: "Is your mother religious?" Second boy: "Yes; she fires the Bible at my father every Sunday morning."

"What is the matter, little boy? Has your sweetheart given you the mitten?" "N-n-no, mum. Me f-f-father's b-b-b-been a-givin' me the s-s-s-slipper—boo-hoo-hoo.

Grandpa and grandma had consented to show the family what the old-time minuet was like. Jack (breaking in at the close): "Now, Grumps, you an' gran'murm give us th' 'razzle-dazzle' an' I'll whistle."

A little Detroit boy, for a few days helped to water his mother's plants and found it very tiresome. One afternoon it began to rain and he gleefully exclaimed: "That's just good! God's got to carry the water to-night, I haven't."

"Why, Georgie," said a girl to her little brother, "I've just heard that you were whipped at school last week. I had no idea of it till ma told me a few minutes ago." "Hadn't you?" responded Georgie. And then he added with an air of pride. "Why I knew at the time."

The little boy was on his knees in his little night-dress saying his prayers and his little sister couldn't resist the temptation to tickle the soles of his little feet. He stood it as long as he could and then he said: "Please, God, excuse me while I lick the stuffing hut of Nellie."

Young Father: "I am surprised that you should ask your grandma for a second piece of pie, Dick. You are allowed but one piece at home, and you always appear satisfied." Little Dick: "Grandma's pies is better than mamma's." Young Father (with emotion): Here, Dick, help yourself."

A 5-year old boy on the East side was taken to the Star the other evening by his uncle to see "Nadjy." When he came home he said he didn't like it a bit. "A man went around the stage saying 'jack-ass,' and lots of the women were all raw here and there and there," pointing to his breast, arms, and legs.

Sunday School Teacher (to new pupil): "We are taught by the Bible that when some one smites us on the cheek we should turn the other to him. Isn't that a beautiful sentiment?" "Yes, ma'am." "Now, if an enemy were to smite you on one cheek what would you do?" "I'd pound der top of his head off."

"Ma," said Bobby, in a slightly injured tone of voice, "there were lots of things you let me do before the baby came that you don't let me do now." "Do you think so, Bobby?" "Yes," asserted Bobby. "Still," he went on with more philosophy, "I can't expect you to be so good a mother with two children as you were when you only had one."

Mr. Gutehardt (to little Ethel, 9 years old): "Who was the gentleman who patted you on the hand?" Ethel—"That was my father-in-law." Mr. Gutehardt—"What? A little girl like you have a father-in-law! You must be mistaken." Ethel—"Well, he used to be my regular father, but mamma got a divorce from him."

Raymond is 5 years old and a strong Democrat. "Raymond must behave better," said his mother, "good Democrats don't act that way." "Do Republicans?" inquired Raymond. "No," said his mother, "good ones do not." "Oh, Raymond," cried little Laura, "do be good, or no one will have anything to do with you, unless," she added, "it is somebody like me, who hasn't any politics."

Mrs. X. is one of those by no means rare mortals whose discipline is much dependent upon her mood and her mood in turn is much influenced by her bodily comfort. It follows that the small daughter Katie is treated with more or less sternness, according to circumstances, a fact which she is quite shrewd enough to appreciate. One day recently Mrs. X. was reproving Katie in rather fretful tones, when the child looked up from her seat on the floor to observe with the preternatural gravity of 3 years: "Oh, take a more comfer'ble chair, mamma."

In a family residing at the South End is a bright little one who is the life of the house. Whenever any one of the household does a thing which does not please him he retaliates by saying: "I don't love you." He had said this once or twice to his fond grandmother, and his father rebuked him for it by saying: "If you ever speak to your grandma again in that way I shall be obliged to punish you." A few nights later the family were at supper and the watchful grandmother removed from the boy's plate something which she did not think he should eat. He regarded her silently for a moment and then blurted out: "I don't love you, grandma." His father glanced at him from across the table as much as to say: "I'll settle with you after supper, young man," and the little fellow immediately saw the necessity of squaring himself with paternal parent, so he quickly added, "as much as I love Jesus." Then he explained himself by saying: "Of course, I don't love any of you as much as I love Jesus." It is needless to say that he was not punished.
